

RISK MANAGEMENT AND BQA CERTIFICATION

Join us for the 2025 Star Insights Series that will be held in the Farm Credit of the Virginias footprint.

▲ Who Is Invited?

Beef producers interested in learning more about risk management and/or becoming BQA certified.

▲ Who Will Be Speaking?

Ralph Stickman - Farm Credit, Crop Insurance Agent

Katherine Carter - Youth Animal Science Extension Specialist

Dr. John Currin, DVM, DABVP-Dairy - Clinical Associate Professor & Production Management Medicine/Food Animal

▲ What Will Be Shared?

- Risk; or exposure to danger, harm, or loss; is something every farmer lives with on a daily basis. Managing exposure to this risk in livestock operations is often the difference between success and failure. Protecting against price declines in conjunction with other risk management strategies can help ensure the best possible outcome.
- BQA certification provides beef producers good husbandry techniques coupled with accepted scientific knowledge to raise cattle under optimum management conditions.
